JOHN MEDAUGH

Dedication

The graduating class of 1952 wishes to dedicate this twenty-seventh issue of "The Echoes" to John Medaugh and the other senior service boys who are in the armed forces. All these fellows, who are enthusiastic and courageous, are determined to keep our country safe so that it can still be "the land of the free and the home of the brave."

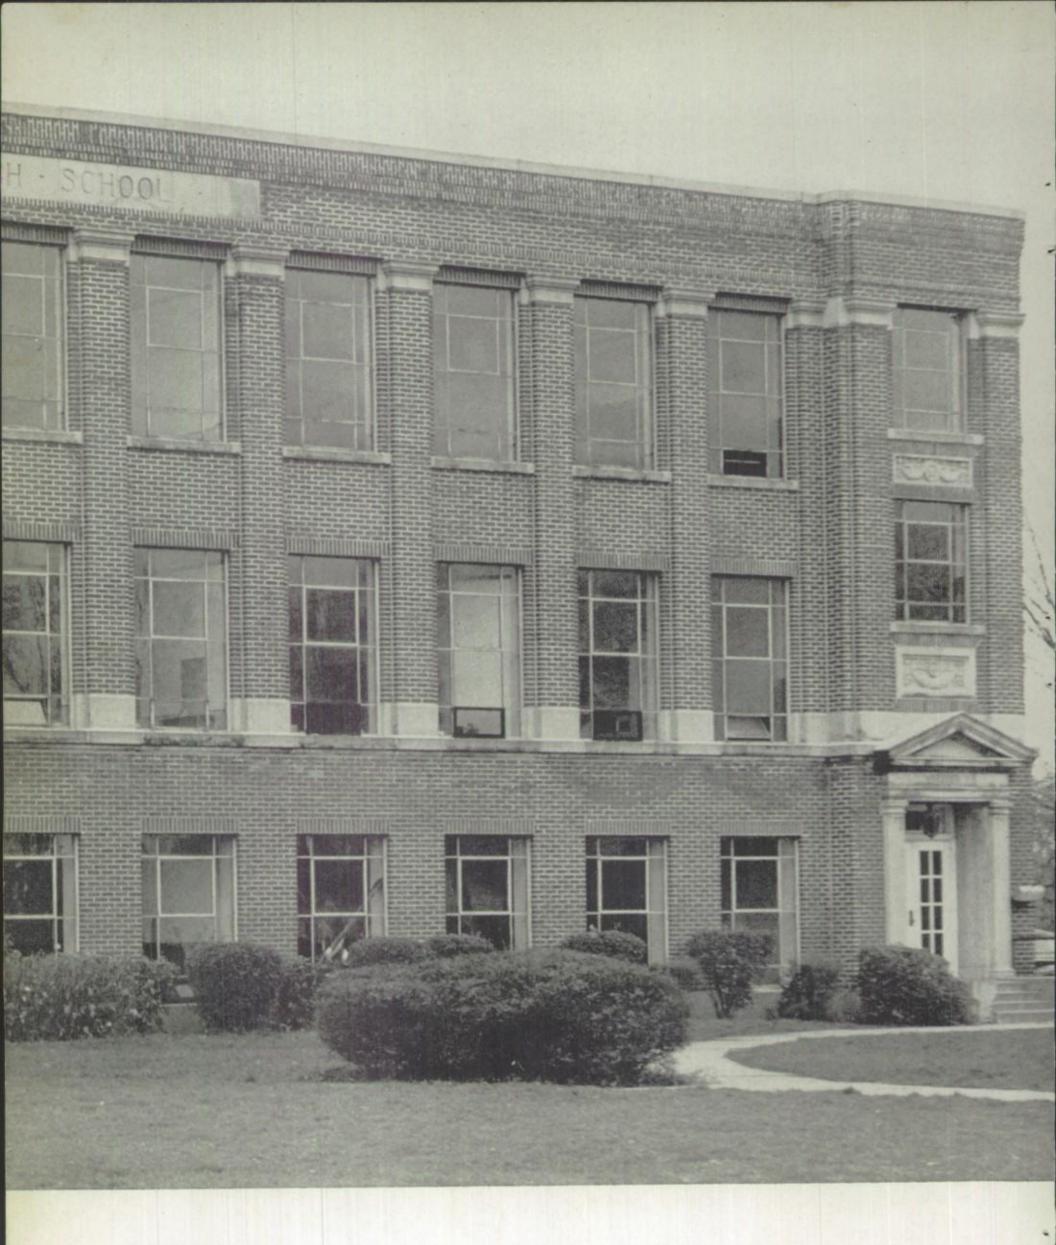

The class knows that words sometimes are meaningless, but we hope our few words here do show our appreciation.

Appreciation

Dear Parents, we wish to show in some way our gratitude and appreciation for your help and guidance in these tender and formidable years. It has only been through your love and sympathy that we have been able to conquer some of the problems that confront youth. We appreciate the fine leadership that has been shown us by our parents, but now we know it is our time to begin to lead.

The hope of the world lies in the education of its youth. No nation can long endure if its judgments and acts are based upon superstition, prejudice, avarice, and hate. The educated youth then must be one who acquires facts that have been tested, is willing to modify previous opinions in light of the new evidence even though it may not be to his immediate economic welfare, and accepts his fellow man with a love that has been cultured with the qualities exemplified by our savior Jesus Christ.

BOARD OF

A huge task lay before the citizens of the Spencerville Community. As you look to the west of the high school building you can see that the Board of Education has this community issue well under way. Besides handling the problem of a new grade school building, the board, comprised of local businessmen and farmers, has done an excellent job of taking care of the duties of operating a school.

The students and the citizens are grateful to these men who have taken valuable time from their occupations and pleasurable activities to handle the major problems of the school.

For the last two years the school news has been published in the Spencerville Journal-News through the cooperation of its editor. "The Black and White Banner" is the new name that has been given to that section of the paper.

The staff would like to thank the editor of the Spencerville Journal-News, Ben Focht, for his cooperation in allowing us to publish the school news in the Journal. We would also like to extend our appreciation to Mrs. Clark, our advisor, for her time and guidance.

It is a pleasure to ride on the buses of the Spencerville School District and to know that they are under the hands of safe and capable drivers. It is not only the students but also the drivers that make every ride an enjoyable one.

COOKS

Mrs. Bigelow, Mrs. Keil.

The pleasant meals that we all enjoy everyday in the cafeteria are made possible through the work of the two cooks, Mrs. Evelyn Bigelow and Mrs. Winifred Keil.

The fine food the students receive makes each day a better school day.

JANITORS

Loren Evans, Charles Shobe.

Long before and long after the noise of the bells cease at Spencerville High, you can find the janitors, Loren Evans and Charles Shobe, hard at work keeping the equipment in order and keeping the building clean. Through the fine cooperation of these two men our school is a better place day by day.

Are Adults Setting Good Examples?

Parents, teachers, and friends, it is indeed a great honor and privilege to address you on behalf of the members of the Senior Class of 1952. We, the members of the class, are indeed appreciative of all the contributions of kindness and helpfulness you have given to us.

My topic, "Are Adults Setting Good Examples?", deals both with you and with us, the graduating class, since it won't be long until we ourselves will be adults serving our community.

I will discuss this topic from a youth's point of view.

A big weakness in adult guidance lies in the religious phase of life. There are so many parents who encourage their children to go to church, but do not go themselves. Soon the children begin believing that their parents are getting along without attending church, and they can do the same and still not miss anything in life. But, friends, this is not true. It has been said, and it can truly be said that "Religion and character are caught and not taught." The little snatches of religious truth caught and picked up by the child when he is still at home usually stay with him during his entire life time.

A local church revealed this sign: "Don't send your children to our church, come with them."
This certainly is a valuable piece of advice. If each and everyone of us would practice this,

I am sure we would have a better world in which to live.

Another church had a sign which read: CH—CH. Then it asked "What is missing?" Well, of course, the answer is the letters U and R since CHURCH spells church, but the moral of this sign is that you are, meaning the American people, missing from the churches. Rev. Willard Thomas said that ministers of long ago in England had few people missing from their churches because there, when anyone committed a crime, if he would touch the door knob on the church door before a policeman could catch him, he would have the mercy of the church for thirty days.

The school is also another place a child receives religious education. Within the school room the Christian relationship is practiced to the utmost. There we learn to get along together, to live together, and to play together. We become congenial toward one another and learn to cooperate and are tolerant of each other. This is the basis of Christian teaching. By going to school we not only get book learning, but we get something far greater and more valuable—the Christian way of living.

Another weakness in adult guidance lies in the corruption of our government. The Kefauver Committee was established to investigate crime and graft. When this committee started functioning and started tracing the actions of big time gamblers, it was discovered that they not only had influence over local but state and national politicians as well. They control the police departments and law enforcement agencies in many cities and even the courts in some cases. These people seem to have a lust for power and money and they don't care how they secure it. Is it any wonder that some students cheat on their tests and other school work? What more can be expected when they are constantly faced with this corruption in the government of our United States?

Maybe the government wouldn't be full of people who are working for their own selfish desires, if the other half of the adults, who are eligible to vote but do not, would exercise their voting power by going to the polls at every election. It really is startling and hard to believe that only 48% of the American citizens actually exercise their voting power. This is one of the greatest privileges that the American people have. It has been argued for quite some time that the voting power should be extended to the eighteen year olds because at this time the operation of the government is fresh upon each individual's mind. During the school years is the time that government is emphasized so thoroughly. Maybe if the voting power were extended to the eighteen year olds the percentage of voting would rise.

Another enlightening situation brought out through investigations was the "fixing" of basketball games. If these unlawful practices wouldn't have been halted, they could have very easily spread to the small home town teams. It is this lack of fair play in life situations that sets the wrong example before the youth of today.

How about the home life of youth today? Is it like it should be, or are the children finding home life uninteresting? If they are, how can this be corrected? Are the parents understandingly close to their children? Do they take a real interest in them or are they looked upon as other perishable material possessions? If parents would take a genuine interest in youth activities, perhaps it would help them in understanding the problems of youth.

Everyone of us at one time or another is called upon to be an example. We must remember that what we teach our children by example, if it is good, is better than what we teach them by precept.

School Citizenship

PARENTS - FACULTY - FRIENDS-

On behalf of the forty-four members of the 1952 graduating class, I wish to welcome you to this—Our Graduation.

It is only fitting that you our parents, faculty, and friends, be at this great occasion. You have provided many opportunities for us throughout all our school years. Among the many opportunities and one of the most important, is citizenship. But what is being offered to our students in the line of citizenship? Are they able to live as free citizens in our schools or are they tied to a strict law of silence? For example, in some schools when the students are dismissed they are to leave the building in files as if they were first and second grade students. Is this citizenship; are the students free and do they have the freedom to exercise or are they like prisoners who do as other folks say? Some schools have detention rooms where students are placed after they have done something wrong. Detention rooms are like solitary confinement cells, and after the student has been placed in these rooms, he learns nothing. Wouldn't it be better to have a person to act as a councilor and give the student who has gone wrong a bit of guidance, rather than to punish him and to take the chance that he won't go wrong again?

Of course, the task of teaching citizenship cannot be wholly placed on the teachers' shoulders. The students have a responsibility. Their part in citizenship is to carry on regular work and activities, to obey and enforce laws, and to be punctual. The lessons must be learned thoroughly, thoroughly doesn't mean just to have the questions answered but to have the lesson so completely learned that the student could lead class discussion if necessary. To do this a pupil must learn the power of concentration, which is another great aid to citizenship. One must study the task so that it may be a completed job. Not only in studies must a completed job be done, but also in other activities such as athletics.

For girls and boys alike, every school offers some type of athletics. In athletics a person has a chance to develop himself, not only physically but mentally, he must learn to take defeat when it comes and not to loose his temper, and he must be able to think fast, for when a tight spot comes in a game, he must know what to do and how to do it. For those who do not play on the teams that represent the school, there is an intramural program planned. Thus, students participating in intramurals are also getting their citizenship training.

In school a student has a great chance to develop his sense of responsibility by seeing that his studies are done, by helping other students and accepting the position of an officer in some organization.

The classrooms must offer a chance to live together, to think together, and to work together in order to build better citizens for today and for the future. Classrooms aren't places just to learn the lesson, but are places for the students to think and to live.

Perhaps there is no school in the United States that does not let its students vote in one way or another. What is better citizenship training than voting?

In many schools each class takes an annual trip. Traveling on these all day trips gives the students another opportunity to live and learn together.

Inviting outside speakers to come to the schools is a fine way for the students to learn and to broaden their understandings. Hearing from persons who have actually witnessed the happenings always gives a person a better chance to form his own opinion.

These are only a few of the many opportunities for the students but are they receiving these opportunities and even more for good citizenship? Are we living up to the ideals that were set up by Earl James McGrath, United States Commissioner of Education, when he said, "Citizenship to the growing child comes to mean pretty much what the community shows it means. The best way to teach young people the meaning of our democratic freedoms is to demonstrate by our own example that we have mastered the three R's of citizenship—RIGHTS, RESPECTS, and RESPONSIBILITIES."

Prophecy: The Thing

As we were walking down the street In bright and sunny May
We sang and danced and carried on In a most annoying way.
Soon after that we disappeared
That class of 'fifty-two'
But if we'd have our chance at life
Here's part of what we'd do:

Dallas, still strumming his ole guitar Has become a western cowboy star. Carole Jean, so people say, Is an airline hostess for T.W.A. Jim Clement, with all his fun A pretty Delphos girl has won. Objective reached for Patty Lou Pryer To become a Missionary was her desire. Eugene's stock will always win In every fair he shows them in. Charletta's known near and far For she's a famous Opera star. We always told Dow that he should sing-Now he's known as the second "Bing". Ruth Anna Brown will always laugh About having to learn to spell "Grandstaff". As we move on down through this list, We find Don Wisher a commercial artist. If you should get sick and need an M. D. Ask Dr. Sue Hilty to give a remedy. Johnny Medaugh the world must roam Someday, we're sure that he'll come home. F. F. A. gave Don Clement his start His farm is the pride of Hummel's heart. Letha and Bob, for now and forever— Never apart, always together. Fleeta is married and lives on Main Street She's the mother of three and still real sweet. D. E. P. as "Editor Perry" now ranks To the Journal News he gives his thanks. Lois is still a dentist's nurse, But being Jim's wife will always come first. Frank works with shrubs and flowers He loves the outdoors, and there spends hours. Janet is now a minister's wife With Walt she lives a contented life. Stanley's fame now really mounts-He calls all square dances here-abouts. Mary Jane still has vitality plus What she's doing by now may surprise all of Junior, as he was meant to be,

Was an Olympic's champ in sixty-three.

Donna, pert as ever, alert and young,
Makes life a joy and always has fun.
Merlin (Jake) is quite the man
He has a steady job with Uncle Sam.
To be a nurse has been her ambition
Carolyn always fulfills her mission.
Bob Hirn, in the daytime, sleeps—
He has to, with the hours he keeps.
In the Army, Doug is in K. P. so much
His sleeping will ever get him in dutch.
For Eileen and Neal, life isn't bitter
They're happily married and hire their "Sitter."

To be an executive was Delbert's fate The name "Neuman" still rules Name Plate. Martin now works for the Lima News His trusty camera he'll always use. Mary Holten, so we found out Was discovered by a talent scout. Dick is traveling like Marco Polo— He drives a truck for Coca Cola. Betty, as always, is a swell pal-She works at Gregg's, this pretty gal. Elsie Gales, so they say, Is now president of P. T. A. Bobby Harter made one fatal error-When he mistook Jane for Jean Strayer. Where can we find Rita Grace? For her, these days, there's just one "Place." Russell Louth leads an interesting life Since Judy H. has become his wife. Gale just had to buy a new Cadillac As often as he goes to Sharon's and back. Such a beauty is Norma Jean She has been declared a "Milkmaid Queen." Ah, what fate will befall Jim Miller?? He is, as always, a lady-killer. Knowledge in hog-raising Jane gained here Is of no use to her as a mountaineer. On a large western ranch lives Charles Klaus It had to be large to hold his new house. As a child, Mick idolized Babe Ruth Now HE is the idol of today's youth. So, as you walk down the Spee-ville streets Some dark and gloomy day If you should see a great big box A 'standing in your way Be sure to stop and open it up That's my advice to you 'Cause we're a sitting in that box— Our class of 'fifty-two'.

On September 5, 1951, a lively group of thirty-six members entered the seventh grade. During the year Nelson Reynolds and Marie Hines joined our ranks.

High school life has been a great deal different than grade school life, but it certainly has been enjoyable to all of us.

One of the highlights of the year was the wiener roast, which was made possible through the combined efforts of the class in a paper drive to obtain money for the expenses.

We wish to thank Mrs. Chandler and Mr. Collins for helping us to adjust ourselves to high school life.

Varsity Basketball

The Spencerville varsity basketball squad followed in the footsteps of the football squad by coming through with the best won-lost mark in the school's history. The boys were league and tournament champions of Allen County. In compiling their 18-2 record, the team suffered a one-point defeat at the hands of New Knoxville during the regular season and a two-point defeat to St. Henry in the Sectional at Celina. The squad was again represented well on the All-County Team as Mick Miller made it for the third year, Junior Richardson for the second, and Del Neuman for the first.

RESERVE BASKETBALL

The reserve basketball squad showed signs of future greatness as it registered a brilliant 11-6 mark for the season. An encouraging phase of their play was that many sophomores and a couple of juniors will be counted on heavily in years to come. Another fact was that the reserves won the majority of their games from non-league opponents as well as the county teams.

JUNIOR HIGH BASKETBALL

The Spencerville Junior High squad completed one of its most successful seasons as the Varsity and Reserve teams only lost a total of two games between them. The Reserves had a 6-1 record while the Varsity compiled a 9-1 mark and emerged as league champions for the second year in a row. They were eliminated from the tournament by Perry, whom they defeated later on in the league-deciding contest. The scores are as follows:

The F. H. A. had as their meeting night the first Monday of each month. At these meetings problems of importance to all girls were discussed along with our other project, which included several bake sales and our annual Mother and Daughter Banquet given on the evening of April 25.

All the girls have enjoyed working in the F. H. A. this past year and want to sincerely thank Mrs. Adams for her supervision.

Character, one's foundation of living, was stimulated by a number of interesting activities during this year of F. A. Some were beneficial to the community such as the pest hunt, scrap drive, increased knowledge in public speaking, parliamentary procedure, and judging contests.

The treasury funds were increased by the proceeds from eleven acres of soy beans, an ice cream social, and a skating party.

Five members, Russell Louth, Gene Balthaser, Hugh Seibert, Dick Zimmerman, and Jim McDonough, attended the National Convention at Kansas City.

Another highlight of the year was the State Convention at Columbus when we were honored with five members for State Farmers Degree. They were Don Graessle, Ray Millisor, Glenn Hayes, Gene Balthaser, and Bob Binkley. The unique event of the year was Gene Balthaser's election to the Northwest sectional vice-president position.

The entire sixty-four membership, second largest in the State, wishes to thank Mr. Hummel for his teachings and guidance.

GIRLS' ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION

The G. A. A. sponsored the first Homecoming, October 5, 1951. It was a huge success! In order to have an income, members of the club planned monthly parties inviting the public. Members also sponsored the concession booths at all the home football and basketball games.

Our most sincere thanks go to Mrs. Chandler for her interest and splendid leadership!

The school is one of the bulwarks of democracy. Actual participation in managing some of the affairs of the school helps the students to learn to assume responsibility. The student council, composed of two elected members from each of the classes of the high school, offers an opportunity for experience in democratic procedures.

Among the achievements of the Student Council was the first Homecoming which was a great success.

Specific plans have been developed for the popular election of separate junior high cheerleaders for football and basket-ball. This plan has been in effect with Varsity Cheerleaders for the past six years.

As you journeyed through the halls in early September, did you hear any strange sounds coming from the auditorium? You weren't alarmed, it was only the mixed chorus under the direction of their new music teacher, Mr. Hinshaw. These strange sounds formed sweet music as the group worked more and more together taming those pretty voices into gracious harmony.

The mixed chorus participated in the Spring Concert on March 21, and the eisteddfod on April 18. These events helped to show the group what they had accomplished from their slaving.

The mixed charus wishes to thank Mr. Hinshaw, their director, and Beth Mace, their accompanist, for the enjoyable time they spent working together.

GRADE SCHOOL OPERETTA "GOLDILOCKS" ADVENTURE"

This musical playlet is based on the old favorite story, "The Three Bears," and has been somewhat elaborated in order to make it very effective and spectacular for an evening's entertainment.

ACT I—A birthday party is progressing in honor of Goldilocks. Her little guests arrive, bringing gifts; they sing and dance; and when they leave, they beg for Goldilocks to accompany them on the way home.

ACT II—Goldilocks leaves her companions and enters the woods. Fatigued she sits down to rest and falls asleep. Pan, the little Wood God, comes tripping in gaily, spies Goldilocks, and decides to put "dreamdrops" in her eyes. When she awakes, the child discovers to her dismay that it has grown quite dark, and she is uncertain just which way to go. Seeing a light in the distance, she hurries toward it, to seek help.

ACT III—To her surprise the light is the home of the "Three Bears," who are a bit more up to date than the original bears were. While the parents go away, Baby Bear is told he may have the little cubs of the neighborhood come over to spend the evening with him. While the cubs go for a dip in the lake, Goldilocks arrives. The cubs return to find her and chase her around the room. Her screams attract the attention of her father and mother and the neighbors who have been searching for her. They all rush in just before she is captured. Pa and Ma Bear are placed in the "Zoo" and Baby Bear accompanies Goldilocks to her home.

Someone has said "Music is one of the arts that will be found in heaven." Why? Because music stimulates men's souls to great endeavor, to enthusiasm, and to achievement. To illustrate these facts, the band's half time shows helped to inspire the football team to a successful year.

A stirring program was presented in the Concert on March 21, and the band consisting of sixty-one members proudly participated in the District Meet on April 14.

Music is a universal language. It speaks to men when words fail to carry meaning. It expresses moods, characteristics, and emotional feeling.

The twenty-eight young people of the orchestra have developed an understanding and appreciation for some of the works, of the great masters.

Excerpts of these, through the careful guidance of Mr. Hinshaw, were presented at the Spring Concert and the Junior and Senior plays.

The Bufords are in need of money since the death of their father. When many bills accumulate, Mrs. Buford remembers her husband's rich old-maid Aunt who lives in California. She writes to her and receives a letter saying that she will soon stop over for a few days' visit while on her way to the East. She seems interested in the children as she thinks they are all girls. The last sentence of her letter hits like a bombshell. She will give the girls $5,000 each. Winnie is terribly upset by this. Something must be done. He has a great idea. He will dress up like a girl. Then the fun begins.

Circumstances become complicated as Aunt Sophronia is injured and must stay in the hospital. Everyone is so very nice to her, especially the young men who come to call that she begins to wish for a boy to carry on the family name.

Poor Winnie has overplayed his hand. He could kick himself good, but a surprising event takes place which makes everything all right and he gets his big check after all!

Hope hears all the complaints of Mary and Bob about being tied to their Mother's apron strings.

Mother and Father Early are persuaded to go on a cruise. Delphie, the maid, is left in charge with Hope handling the finances and counseling.

Many difficulties are met while the children act for themselves. Bob wrecks a car, Mary dates Jack, and Dick marries Jenny.

By the time Richard and Emily return a week early—all problems are ironed out. Hope and Sanford are headed for their happiest days, Mary finds Randy the nicest boy, and Bob and Buzz pay their debts. Bob decides the folks should be saved the past problems for awhile and Hope thinks that is sound philosophy.

BOOSTERS Carl Perry, Joe Meyers, Art Long

The band wishes to thank the boosters for their help and cooperation throughout the year. They have made it possible for the band to have new music, parties, dances, and a spring and summer trip.

We wish to thank the parents for giving their time and effort to this organization.

President - - Louise Zimmerman Vice President - Vienna Zimmerman Secretary - - - Ruth Monfort Treasurer - - - Verla Adams

The Boosters' organization exists for the betterment of the school and community. Regular meetings were held the third Monday of each school month at the high school building.

Among the contributions that were made to the school by this group of loyal patrons were a Crowther's football charger and other athletic field equipment including the refreshment stand on the Memorial Field and a movie camera with special lens for the sports' department; a paint spray gun, vices, and a workbench for the industrial arts department; and film strips for use in various subjects.

The men procure funds from a membership drive and from the sale of popcorn, potato chips, and Coco Cola at football and basketball games.

The student body and faculty are indeed grateful.

NOTE OF THANKS

We wish to thank everyone who had a part in making this yearbook a success. All students will treasure it highly because it brings to their memories the days which they spent in school.

Special thanks go to all of our advertising patrons. Without their help, it would have been impossible to publish this yearbook.

HOMECOMING

The Homecoming held on October 5, 1951, which was the first one in the history of Spencerville High School, turned out to be a huge success. A ceremony took place at the half-time of the Spencerville vs. Delphos-Jefferson football game. After the game a dance was held in the school auditorium where the queen, Lois Slentz, was crowned by the honorary captain, Junior Richardson, in the presence of her four attendants, Mary Jane Craft, Garna Truesdale, Nancy Hixson, and Judy Balthaser.

An interesting program preceded the dance.

Annual

Each year the Senior Class, and their sponsor, Mrs. Sarka, are responsible for putting out a yearbook. The job of producing this annual each year is very profitable to the Seniors in many ways. They learn how to meet the public, work together, and plan and stay within a budget.

The annual staff has enjoyed working with Mrs. Sarka and wish to thank her for her unfailing help.

Pioneering a better world is the job that lies ahead for every graduate. It's a big assignment, but we are confident of your success, because you have inherited the American frontier spirit—the courage to explore new horizons—the urge to improve—the desire to find better ways of doing things.

This is the spirit that, down through the years, has made the Superior Pioneer School Coach the recognized leader in pupil transportation. No other school coach has introduced so many "safety firsts" that have become standard on all makes. No other school coach equals the new 1952 Pioneer for advanced safety engineering.

Whatever you do, make progress your guiding star, and you'll come through with flying colors. Congratulations to all of you!
